GATHERING THE STRINGS

Counselor, Mrs. Harris.

Counselor, Mr. Wisely.

Mrs. Smith takes a break.

And you thought that school started too early this year. For many people and organizations in our school the 1984-85 school year started almost the same time that school was dismissed last spring. The counselors and other members of the faculty put in long hours of hard work this summer while most of us were out swimming, skiing, or just being lazy. Many other organizations such as the band, student council, cheerleaders, jacketteers, annual staff, and paper staff gave up a lot of their leisure time to start planning for the upcoming school year. As they were working to get everything ready they were also helping to gather the strings together that would help bind the school year together to be a great success.

Student Council members take advice from Mr. Robinson.

Long hours of practice make all the difference.

Mr. West and the band put in many hours of practice.

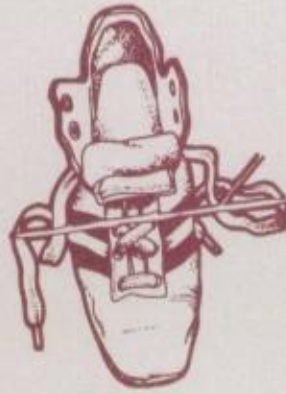

STARTING THE LOOP

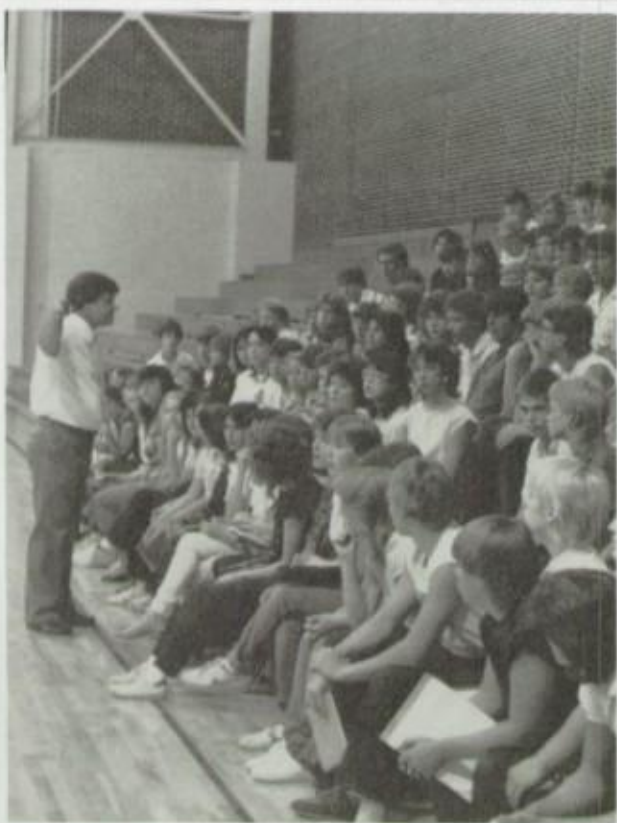

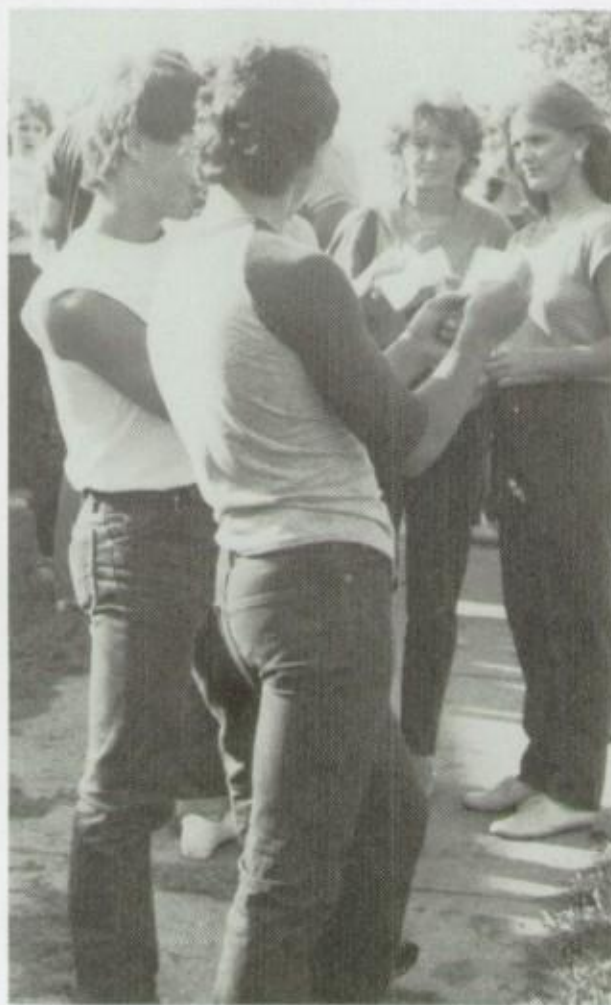

This year will be a year of many firsts for not only our state but also our school. For the first time in Arkansas history all schools will begin on the same day and at Sheridan High School, with the completion of the Fine Arts Building, all activities will finally be on the same campus. The new state requirement was met by mixed emotions by the students and also by the faculty. Some students enjoyed the extra two weeks vacation but to the seniors starting later meant getting out later. These same emotions were also shared by the faculty. We all have our beginnings and our endings and this is just the starting of our loop.

The first day of school holds many unanswered questions for the juniors.

Mr. Brown gives advice to the freshmen about the way it is at SHS.

Joni S. and Dee Dee R. compare their schedules to see if they have any classes together.

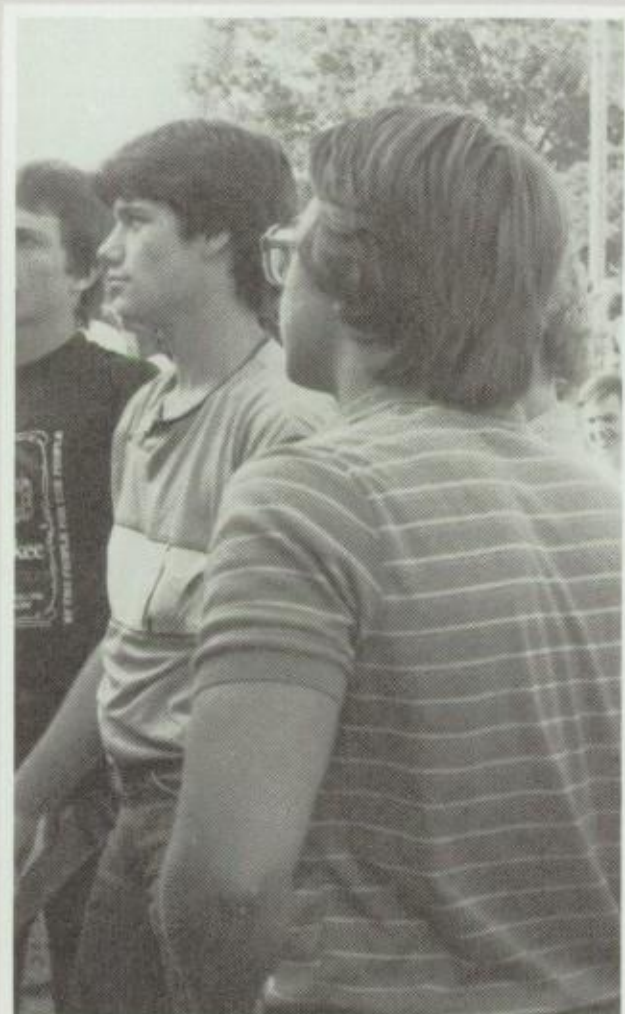

Receiving schedules is only part of the fun of that first day.

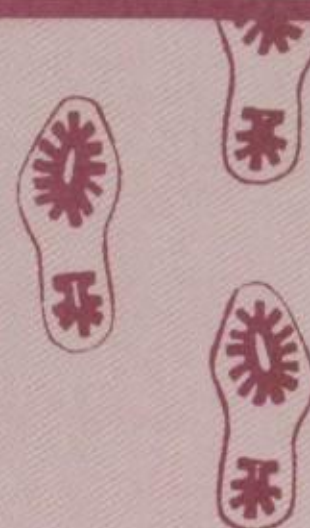

There is excitement in the air as the sophomores acquire their schedules.

On the first day of school the juniors anxiously await the bell to begin the day.

It is exciting but sad as the seniors receive their schedules for the last time.

Members of the Junior class anticipate the beginning of the first day of school.

HAPPENINGS

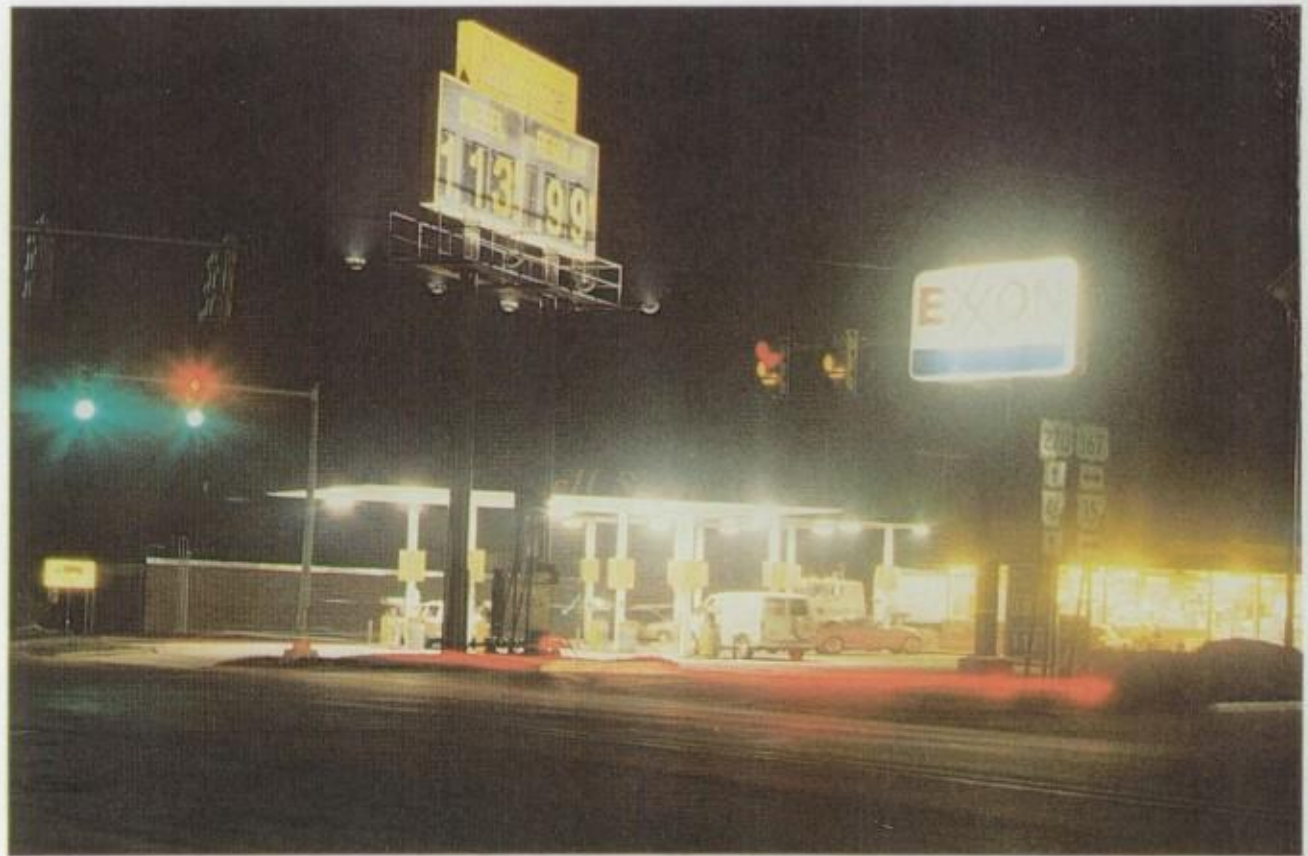

NIGHT LIFE

A lot of people ask "What is there to do in Sheridan?" For many young people having fun means just being with friends. There are many places in Sheridan that you can find things to do if you just know where to look. If you can't find anything here you like to do, most people go to Little Rock to cruise Geyer Springs. It just depends on the individual what type of "Night Life" they enjoy.

Pedestrians beware; cruisers are here!

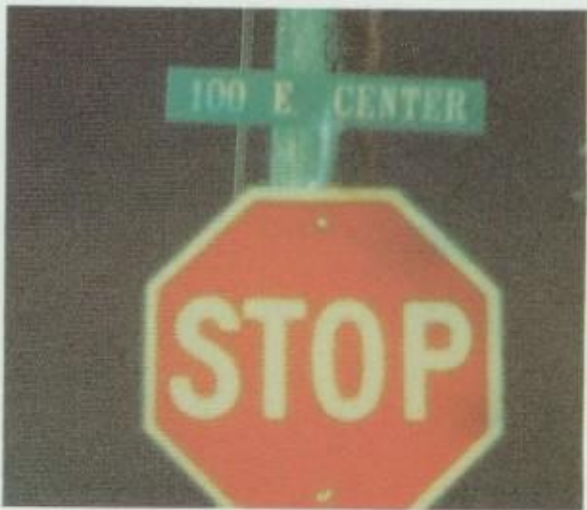

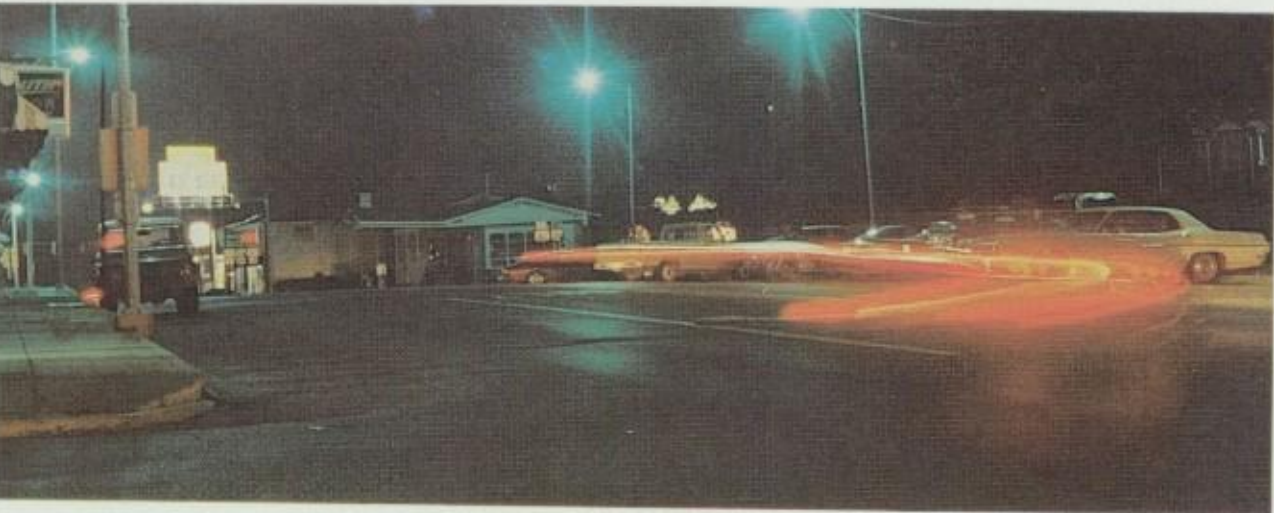

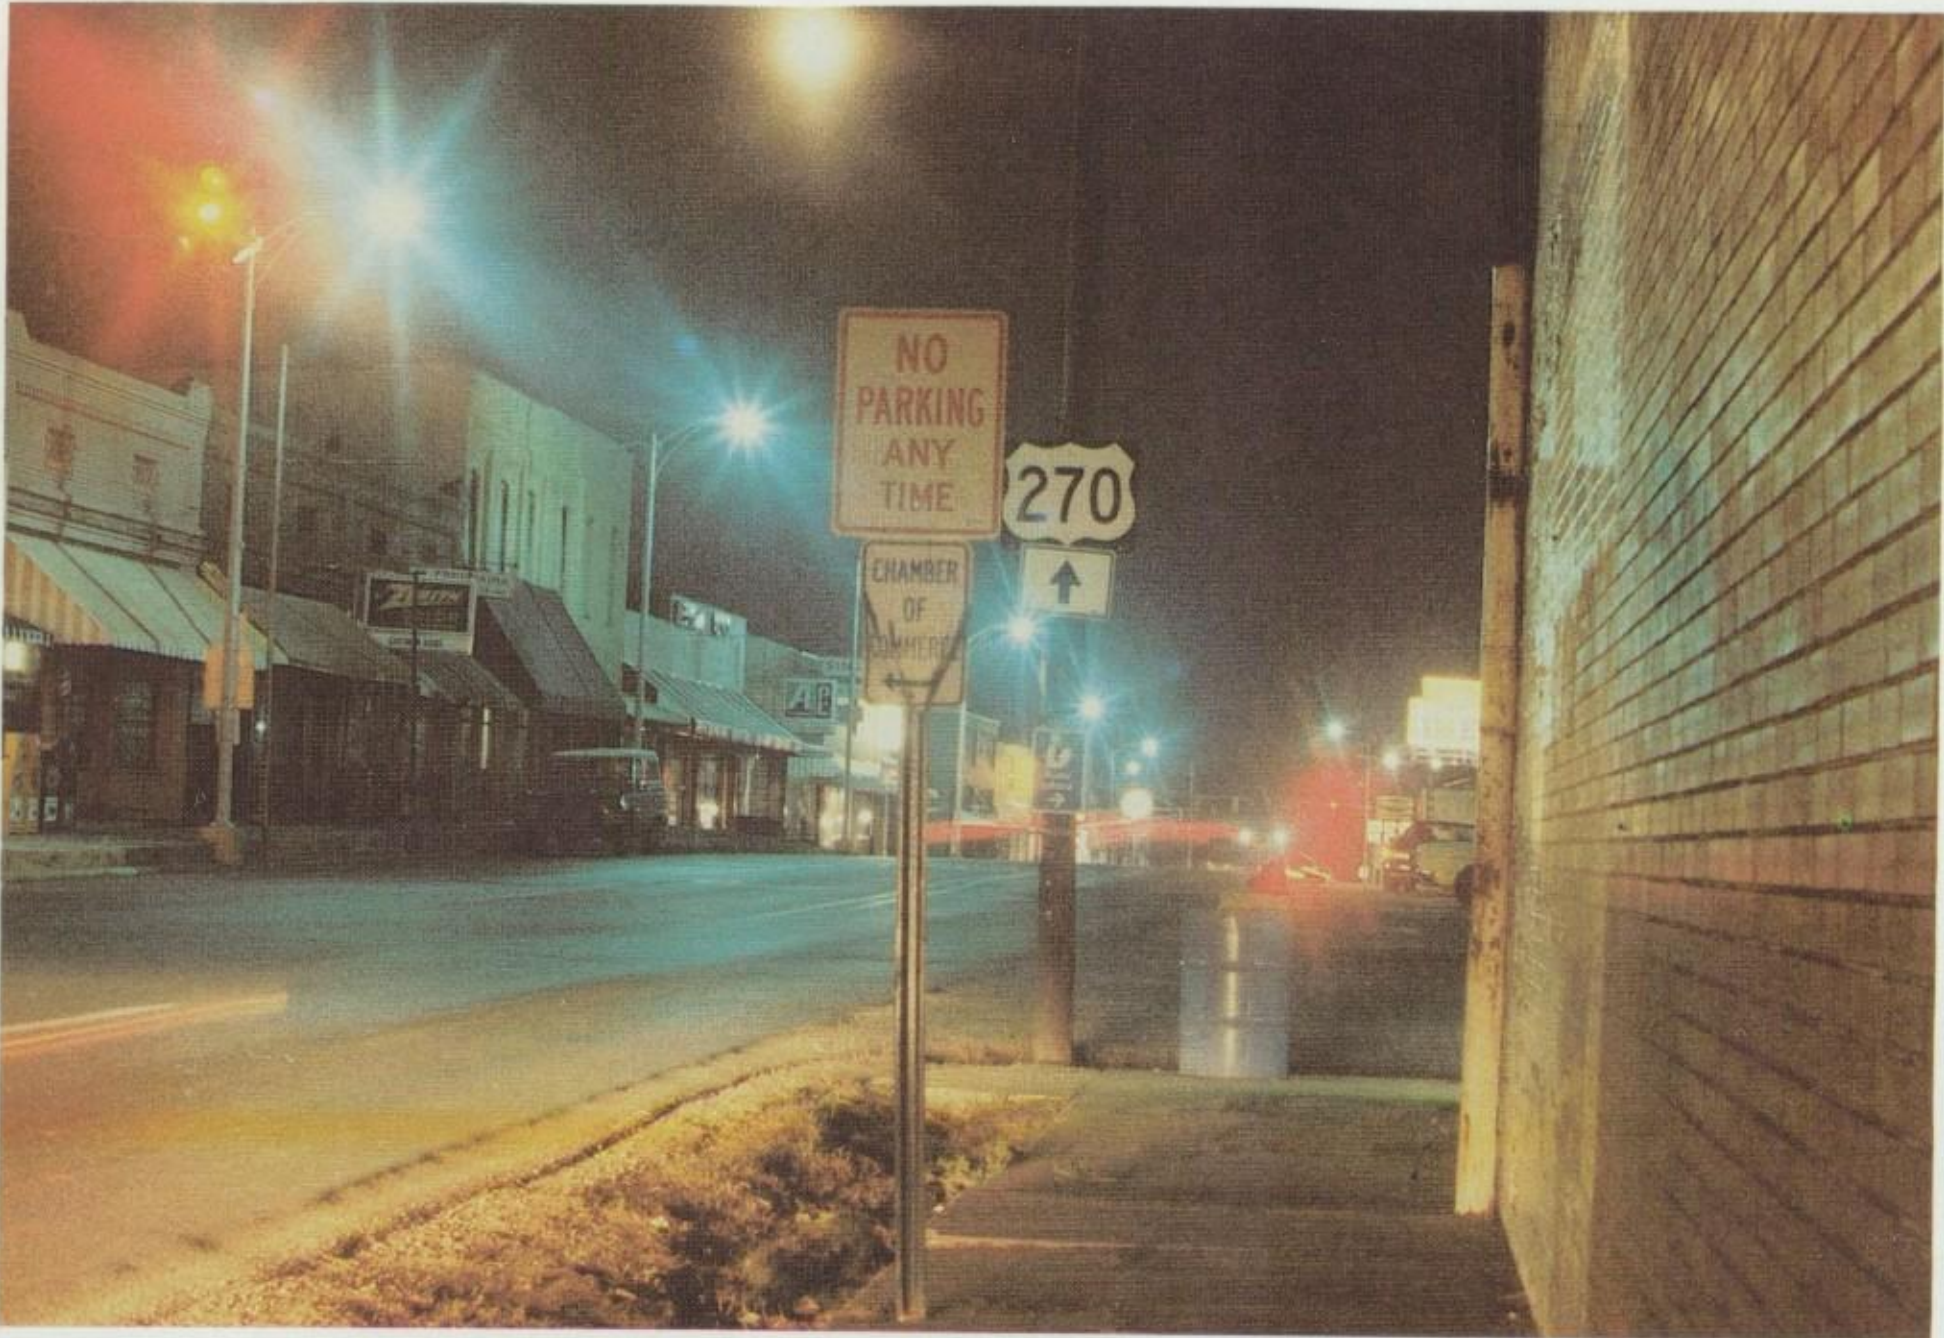

Burger King is a popular place to eat or just to be with friends.

Beep! Beep!

Look out Geyer Springs; here we come!

Center Lane is where friends like to be together.

Cruising the Sonic is a popular past-time in Sheridan.

TYING UP THE ACT

The Senior class of 1984 presented three one-act plays. The plays consisted of a one-act comedy, "Listen, Dad," a one-act schoolroom farce, "Why Teachers Go Nuts," and a one-act farce, "I'll Give You a Ring." These plays were enjoyed by the members of the student body and also by the faculty members, parents, and visiting guests who came to the night performance.

Laura W. and Lisa G. help the Junior class serve refreshments.

Mr. King as the auctioneer for the pies.

To help raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom of 1984, the Junior class invented Jr. Jubilee. This fund raiser helped to raise a lot of money so that the juniors could have a successful prom. Many students and faculty members put in a lot of time on this project and helped to come up with the ideas. Some of the events were the pie in the face, the dunking booth, popping balloons for prizes, pictures, selling cokes and popcorn, and just having a good time. The members of the Junior class would like to thank the members of the student body for helping to make this project a success and also to the juniors and seniors for helping to make the prom come true.

FEW IN NUMBER, BUT GREAT IN TRADITION

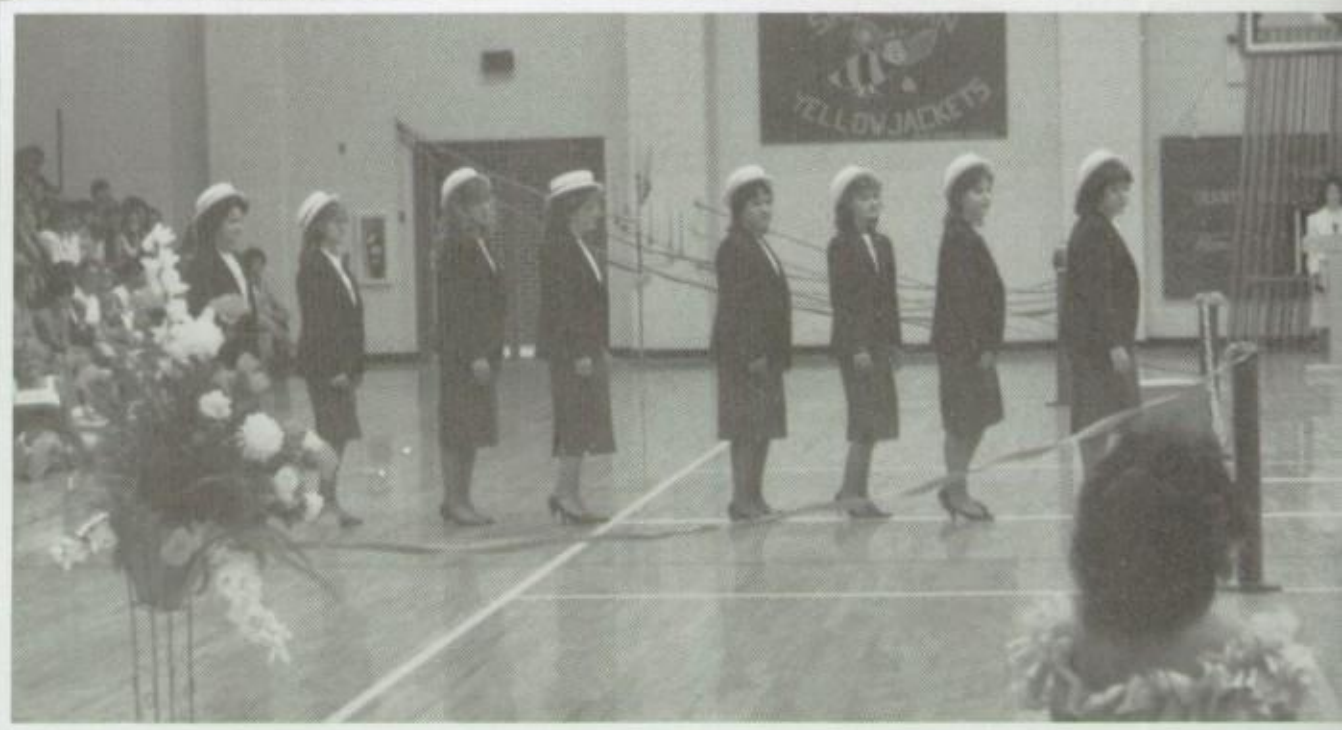

Homecoming is tradition at high schools across the nation, and ours is no exception. However, we had a problem for the first time we only had five seniors on the football team and therefore only had five escorts which cut down the number of maids for the H.C. Queen. The Student Council solved the problem by asking back all the H.C. Queens of the past.

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT SHERIDAN HIGH SCHOOL BAND

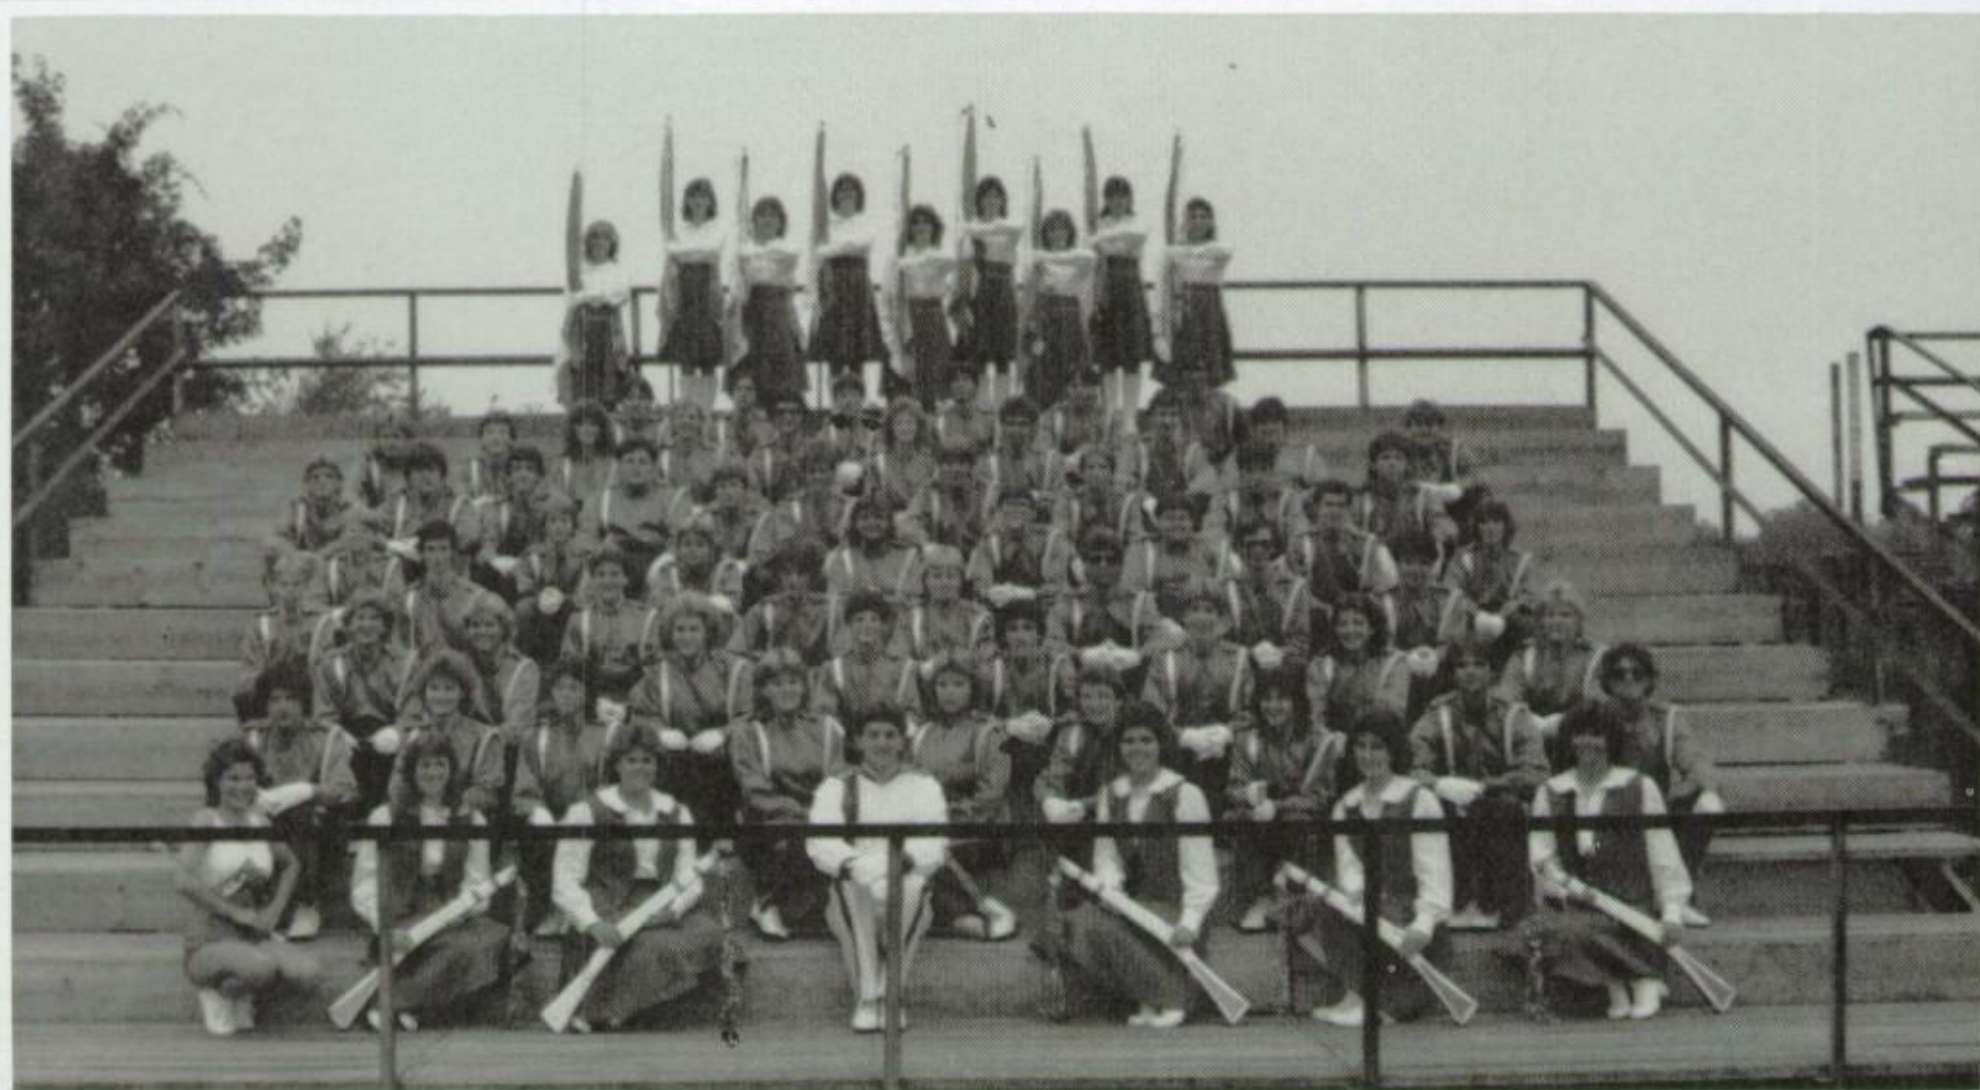

The SHS band works hard to bring excellent halftime entertainment to Yellowjacket Stadium. In addition to the halftime show, the band sits in the stands and plays and cheers. The band also plays at various other times throughout the year.

The band has participated in two marching contests this year. The contests were held at Arkansas Tech, Russelville, and UCA, Conway. The band received a first division rating at both contests. They also received a trophy for best rifle line at the UCA contest.

The front line which consists of the flags, rifles, and feature twirler Leah Cullins, participated in the front line contest at Rison High School in October. The front line received a first division rating.

SHS students and faculty are proud to have such an enthusiastic, spirited and talented band.

GETTING DOWN TO BASICS

There are many courses that you can take at SHS to learn the basics. This year there are six new courses offered in Consumer and Home-making Education. These courses are foods, housing, clothing, parenting and human relations.

Approximately 170 students are enrolled in Consumer and Home-making Education. About 115 of these students are in Home Ec. I or Home Ec. II. Some of the areas that are covered in Home Economics are clothing construction, consumer education, housing, child development and home management.

There are 55 students that are involved in one of the six new courses offered this year. These courses are very in-depth because they go farther than just the basics. Methods of food preparation, nutrition, planning meals, styles of houses, structure of a house and floor plans are just a few of the things that are taught in these new courses.

These courses are a great benefit to SHS because everyone needs to know a little about the basics.

STINGER CHEERLEADERS

The Stinger cheerleaders attended the NCA cheerleader camp at ASU. They were taught new cheers, chants, pyramids, pom pom routines, and spirit ideas. At the camp the Stinger cheerleaders won two excellent and three superior ribbons. Over 500 cheerleaders attended the camp and out of these nine were selected as All American cheerleaders. Michelle Stoops was selected as one of the nine. The Stinger cheerleaders showed outstanding spirit and support for their teams through pep rallies, banners, signs, parties, and selling spirit ribbons.

BUILDING AND TRADES

The smell of fresh cut wood and the shrill of high pitched tools being used are just a few of the things that attract people to shop. Upon entering the doors, you see students scurrying about trying to complete their projects. One student is working with the wood while another is using the table saw. All of this is a part of the exciting world of wood working.

Before one begins a project there are some things they need to know and Building and Trades gives them that knowledge. They need to know about the different qualities of wood, how to use the various tools, and ways of joining wood.

Some of the more popular projects that students work on in shop are gun racks, tator boxes, bee boxes, miniature baseball bats, and cutting animals and names out using the ban saw.

If any of this seems to hold your interest or you work well with tools then maybe you would like to be in Building and Trades.

One of Christa's many duties as Student Council President.

Dana Long works on school activity bulletin board.

"Trick or Treat?"

One Of The Foundations Of SHS

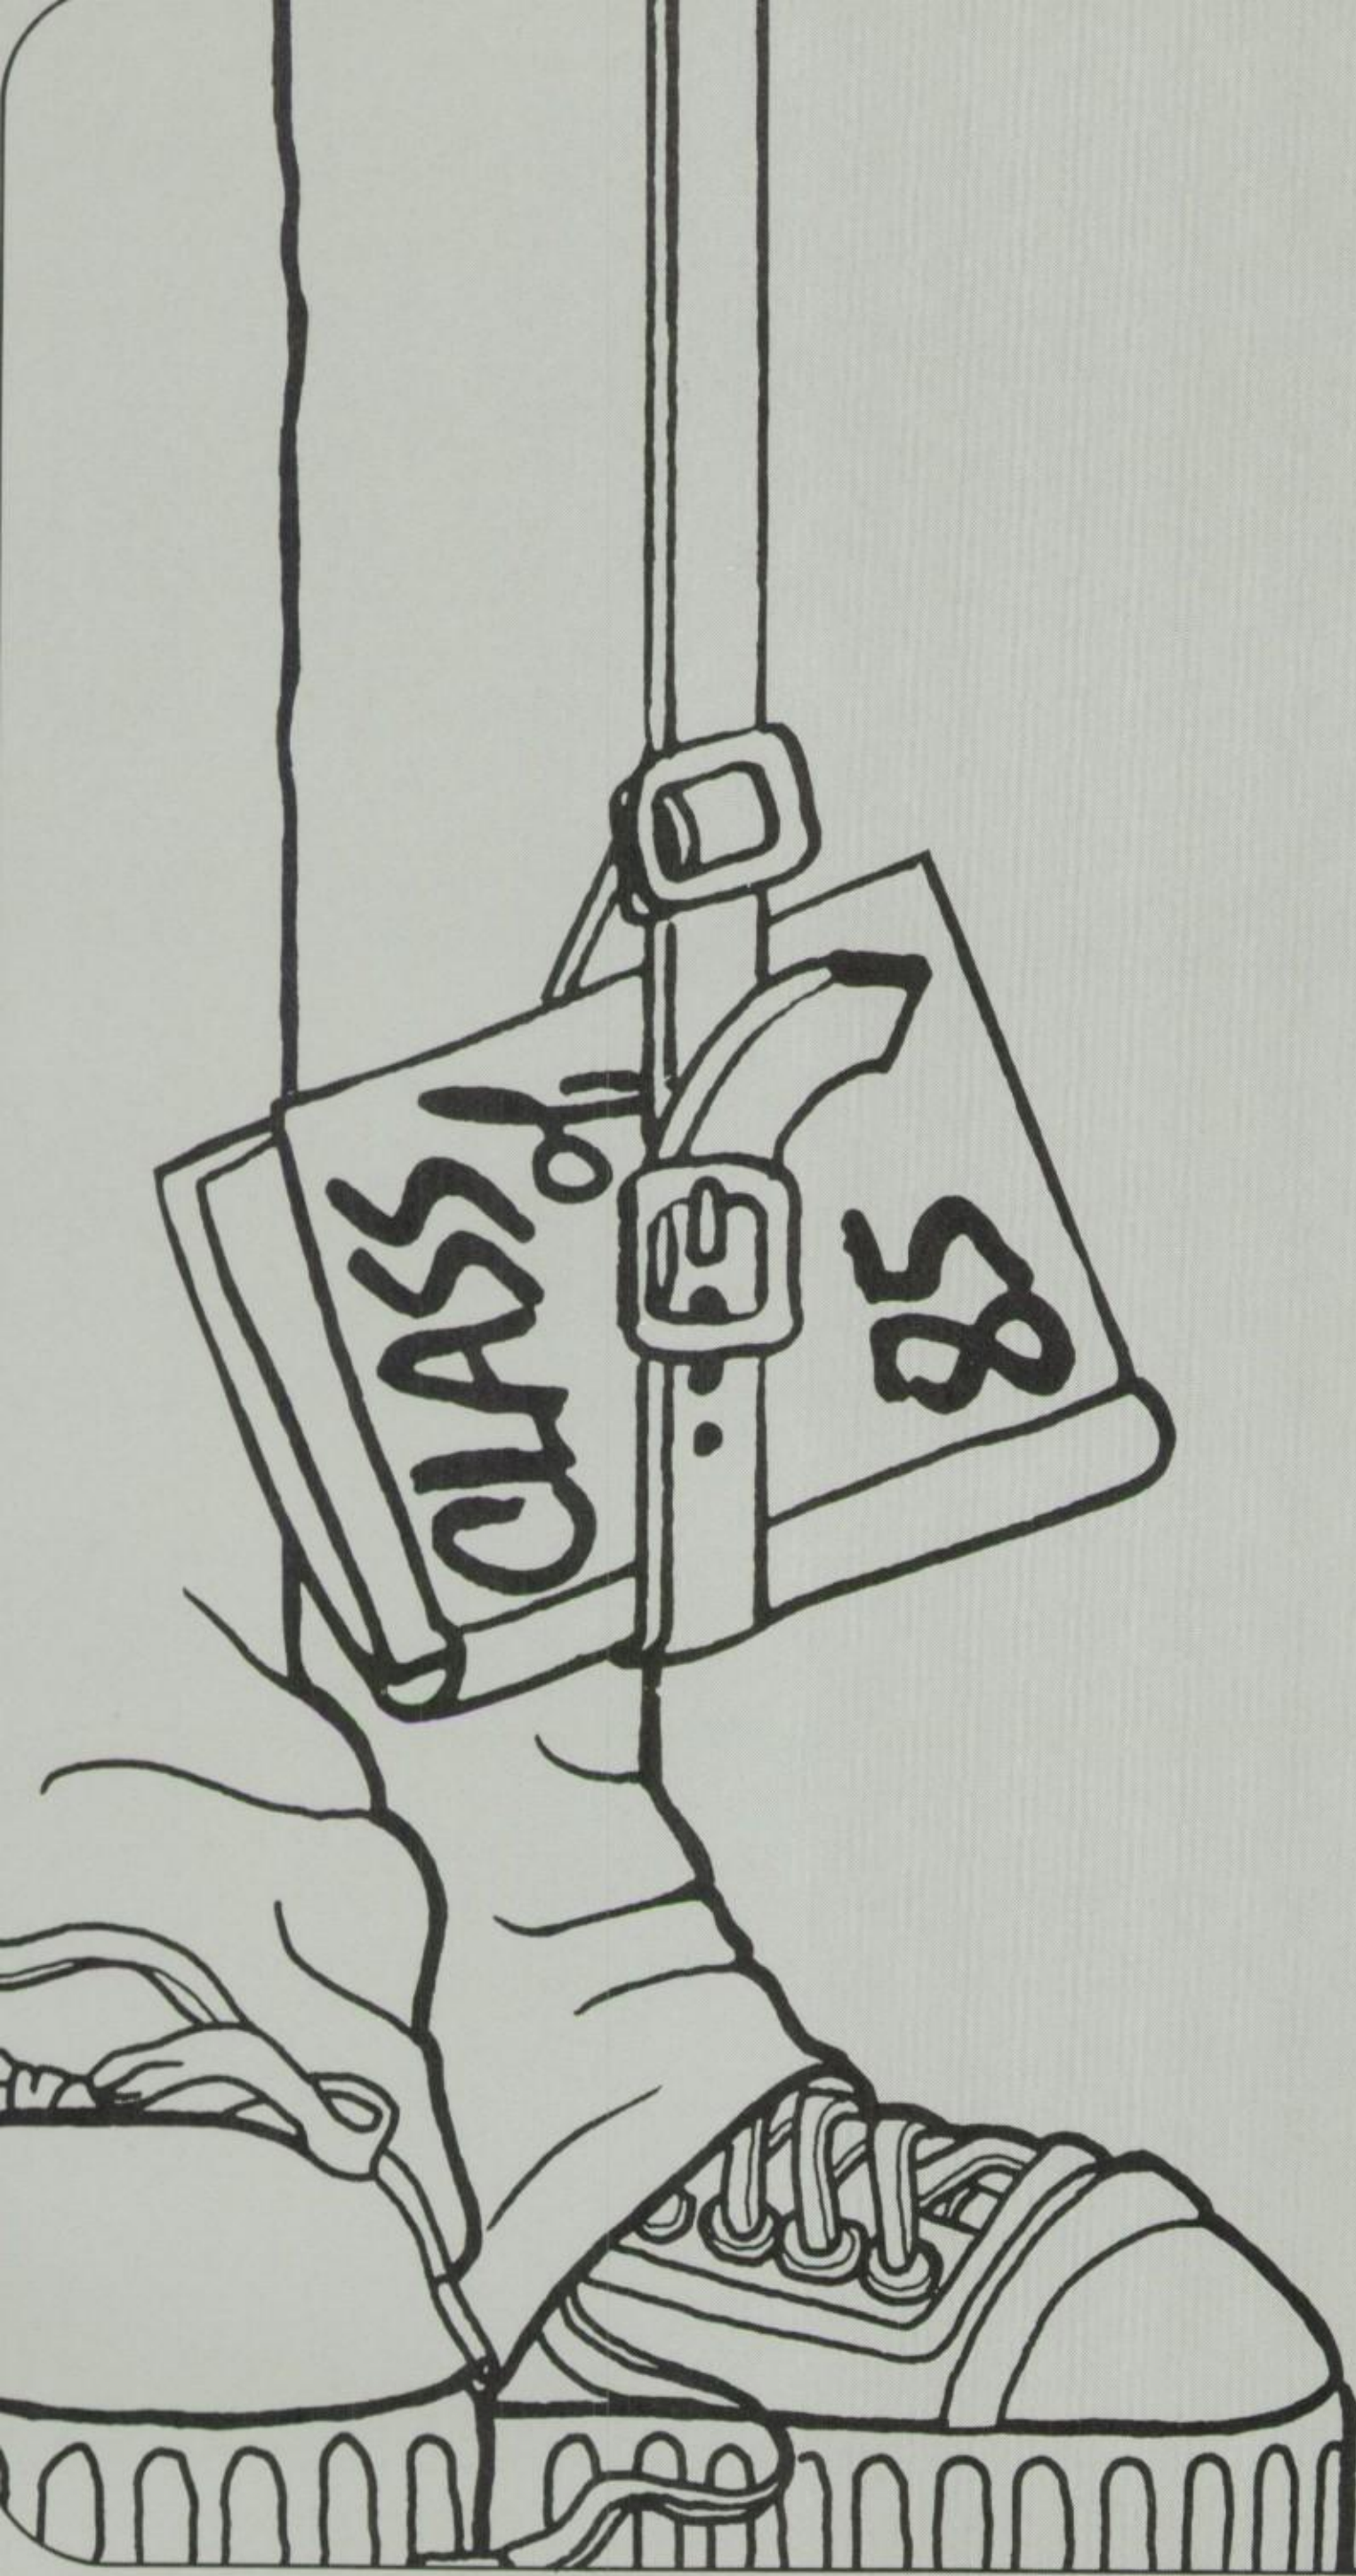

Once each year we are handed a ballot to vote for students to represent us. We elect them to be our voices. These voices are members of the student council. When we vote, do we use our vote by voting for the person that would be best for our class or do we vote for the most popular. Let us think about that last statement for a while. Just what does the student council do. We know that they relay information from the classes and that they vote on issues that will be given to the administration. We see Christa calling us to attention and she leads us in the Pledge of Allegiance and the Alma Mater at each assembly. But did you know that the student council plans almost all of the assemblies? The student council makes sure that the people, who have the programs for the assemblies, are there and are ready to go on. We see little things in the halls like posters and bulletin boards that give us information about what is going on today, this week, of the month so that we can make plans around school activities if need be. The student council goes around at the beginning of each week to each teacher and gathers information about what is going on in the classroom or what clubs are doing what that might be of interest to us all. This is called the Councilgram.

How about homecoming? Did you know that the student council are the ones that plan what the senior homecoming: from the decorations of the gym, gathering the flowers, getting a parade permit, lining up of the floats for the parade, to make sure that we have people to judge the floats in the parade and finishing up that night at the homecoming game.

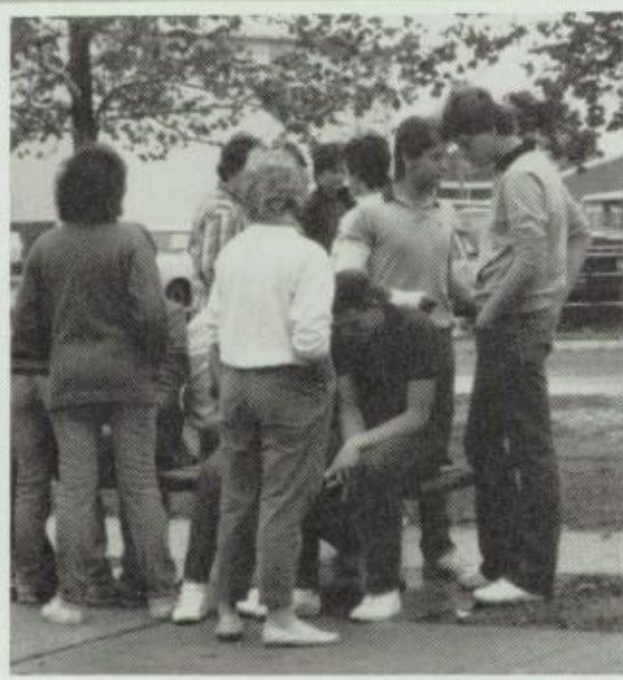

Several years back we had a really big problem at our school, we had no school spirit. We have changed a lot since then thanks to the student council and a lot of other organizations. The student council started lifting our spirits with more pep assemblies and by introduction of the class competition and by putting up more posters showing more spirit. The student council have encouraged us to take pride in ourselves and our school. The rest is history.

All this work does not even begin to cover the other things like Christmas doors, handing our Christmas cards, doing things for the community, and giving up a lot of their time and not just during the school year, but during a lot of the summer as well.

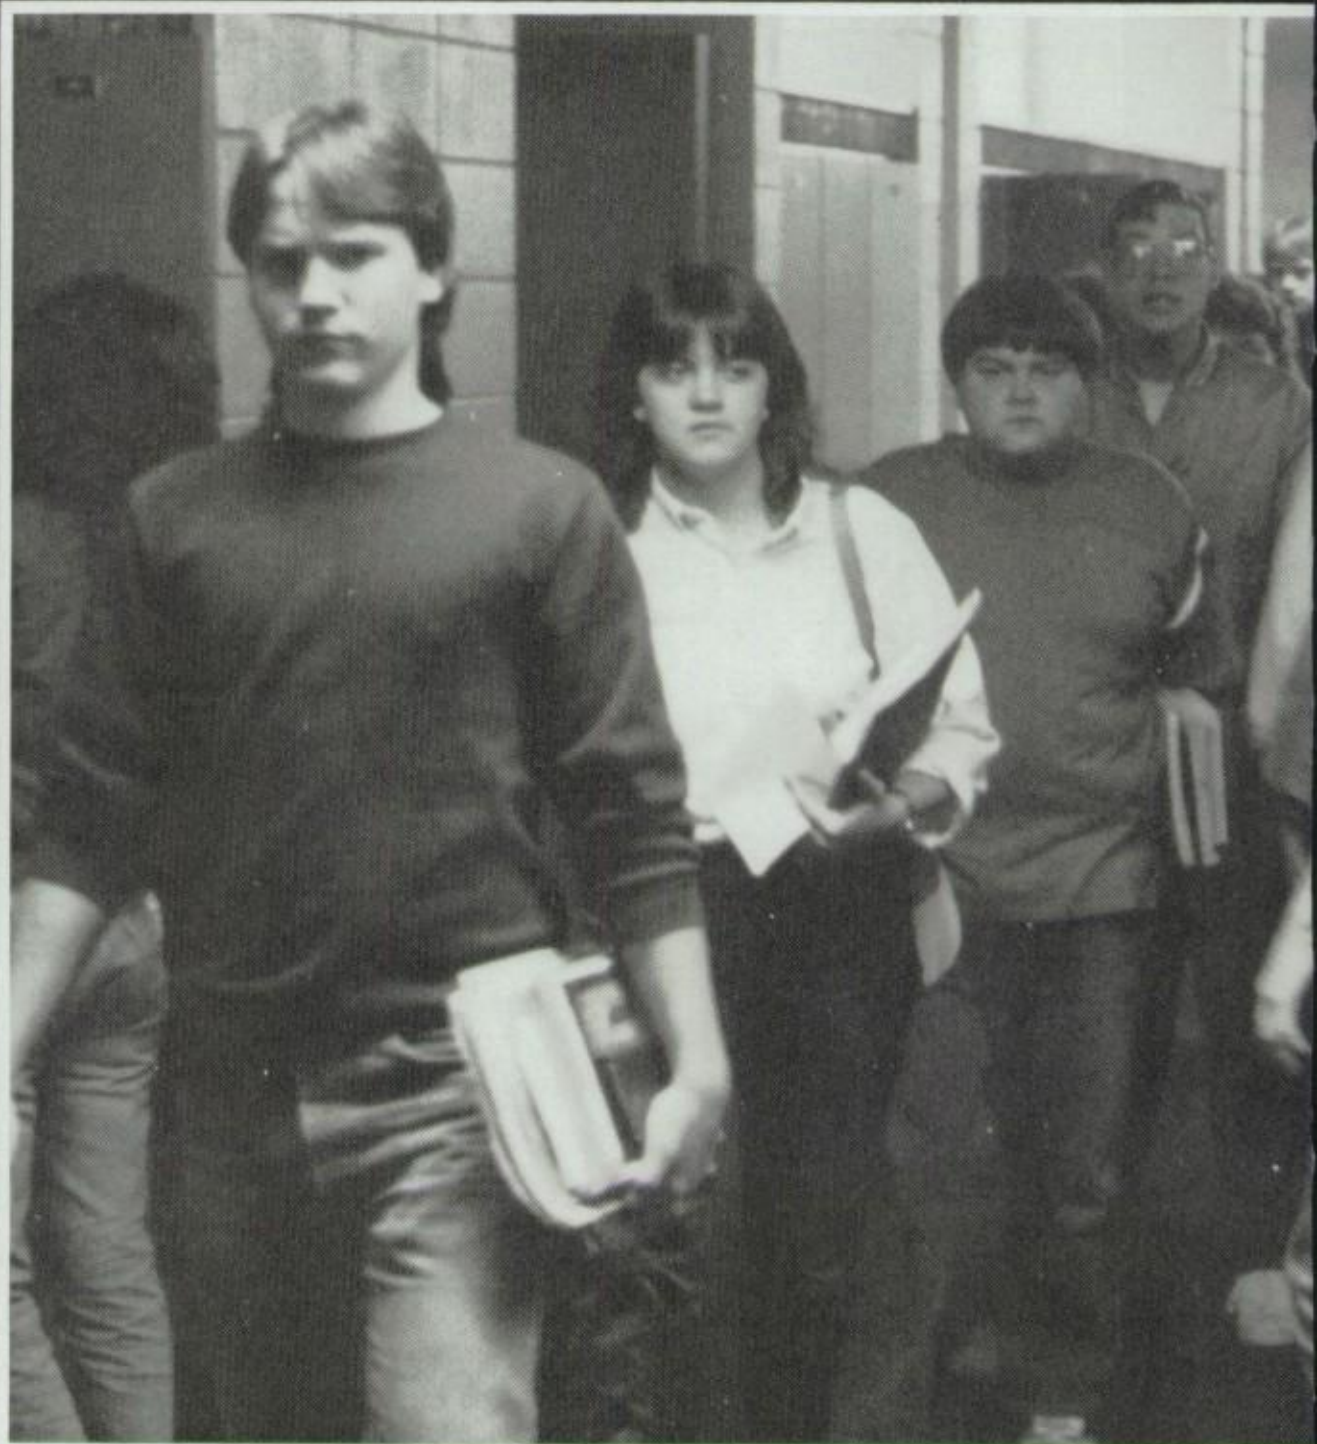

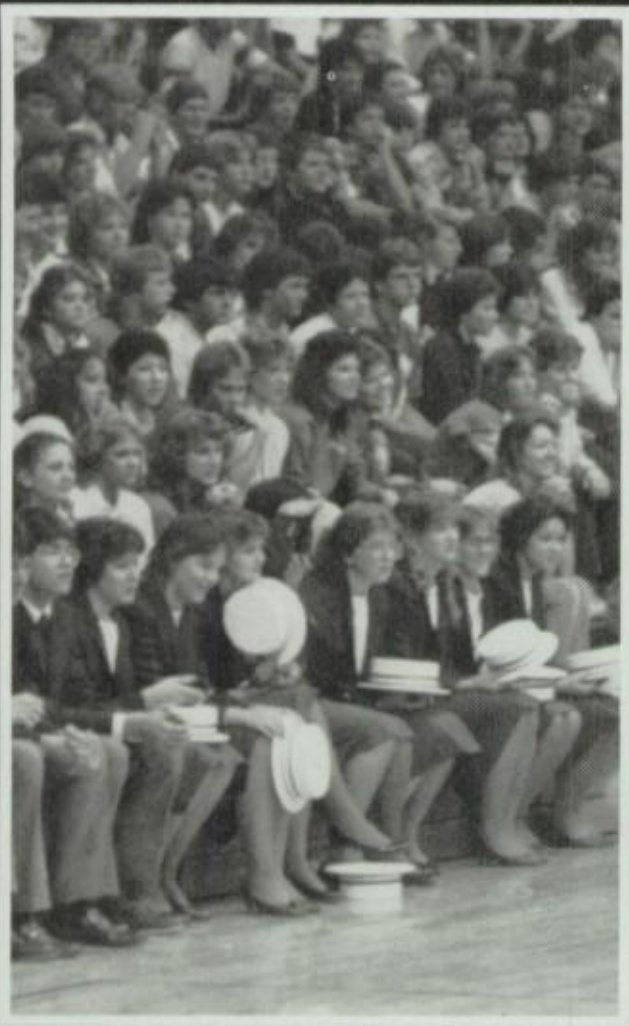

Taking all this into consideration when we vote would we really waste our vote. The only way to find out is let's see what happens next. Remember the way you vote today will affect your tomorrows.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE YOU ARE GETTING TOO MUCH HOMEWORK?

Yes, you come to school to do your work. At home you have other things to do and you don't have time for your homework."

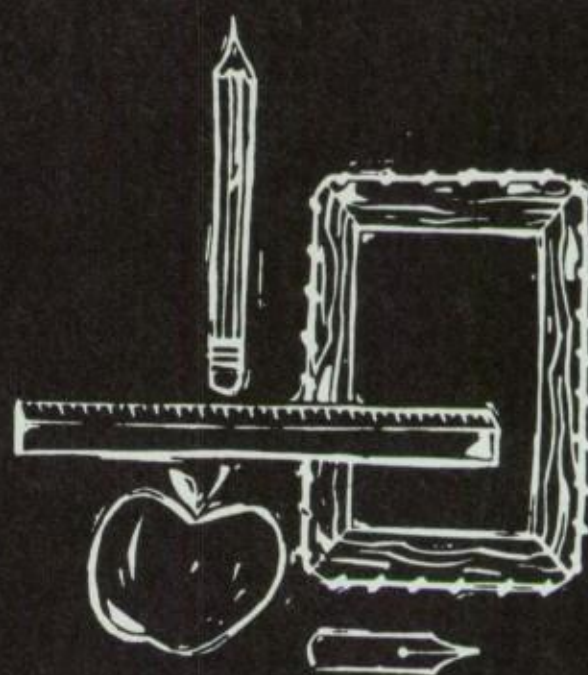

No, because I didn't take any hard classes."

"No, because if you don't have homework you'll never learn it and you'll be lost."

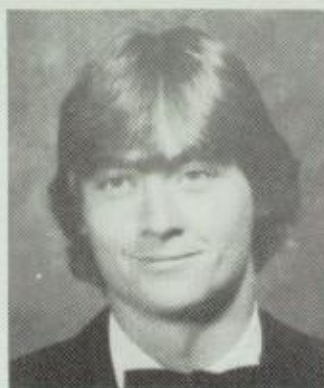

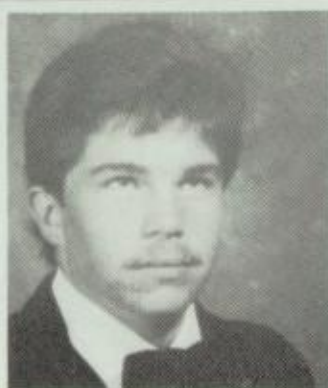

"No, because I'm getting prepared for college. When I do have homework I don't do it so ..."

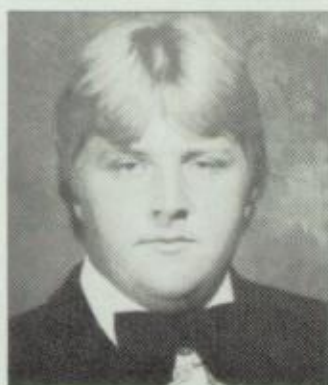

"No, because I didn't take any hard classes."

"Yes, in some classes. A lot of it is just busy work. The students that want to learn will do it and the students that don't want to learn won't do it."

WHAT ADVICE WOULD YOU GIVE THE SOPHOMORE CLASS ABOUT BEING A JUNIOR?

Rhonda Grooms: Don't count your chickens before they hatch.

Tracy Wilson: Study hard for good grades and achieve more for the next year.

Bobbie Mosely: Don't worry about being pushed around by upper classmen.

Bryan Taylor: Stay out of Mrs. Ashley's study hall class.

Bobbie Mosely: Since you're close to your last year, make the best of everything you do.

"THE SCHOOL COMES ALIVE AS THE FRESHMEN ARRIVE"

Being a Freshman can be a real adventure for someone who is not yet realized that they are now entering a totally new world, high school. You stop to think about all the hard work you had to do to make it to the top at middle school and then zap! You find yourself at the bottom and you have to go through the whole ritual of starting over again. Were you paranoid about high school? Do you remember hearing about elevator tickets that you had to have when you got to the high school and you got the tickets from upper classmen. Freshmen know what they are don't they? That's everybody who's not in the 9th grade. I think that maybe freshmen are out numbered like Custer at Little Big Horn only they were the 7th cavalry. Remember all those stories about freshmen being stuffed into those neat lockers by seniors. You knew you would never fit into those lockers but then there were always the garbage barrels outside. Well freshmen year didn't turn out to be so bad after all. And you, the freshmen, survived even though it got rough at times. Still the school came alive as the freshmen arrived.

"Yes, you have more homework in 9th."

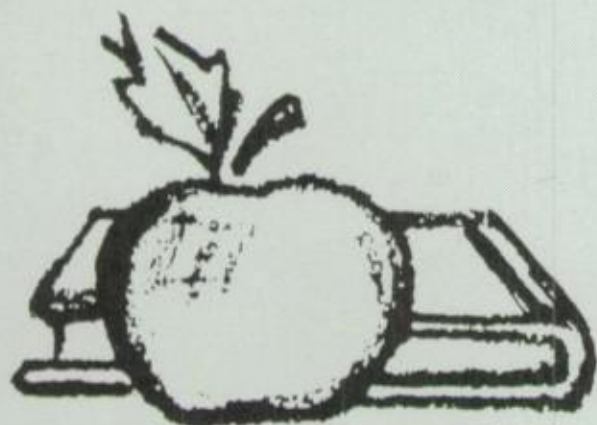

"Yes, there is so many people."

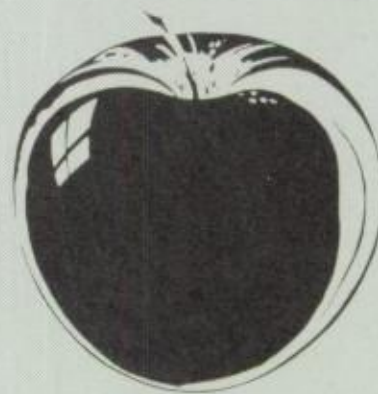

"Yes, how would you like to walk down the Sr. hall when you are 4 feet 11 inches."

"No, there was nothing to adjust to."

he hardest thing for me to adjust was finding all my classes."

"It's soo . . . much bigger."

seems like there is more people en though there isn't."

"Going down the halls is one of the hardest things to do."

THEY WORK HARD FOR THE MONEY

Sheridan School Board Members.

Mr. Robinson is always hard at work on student council activities.

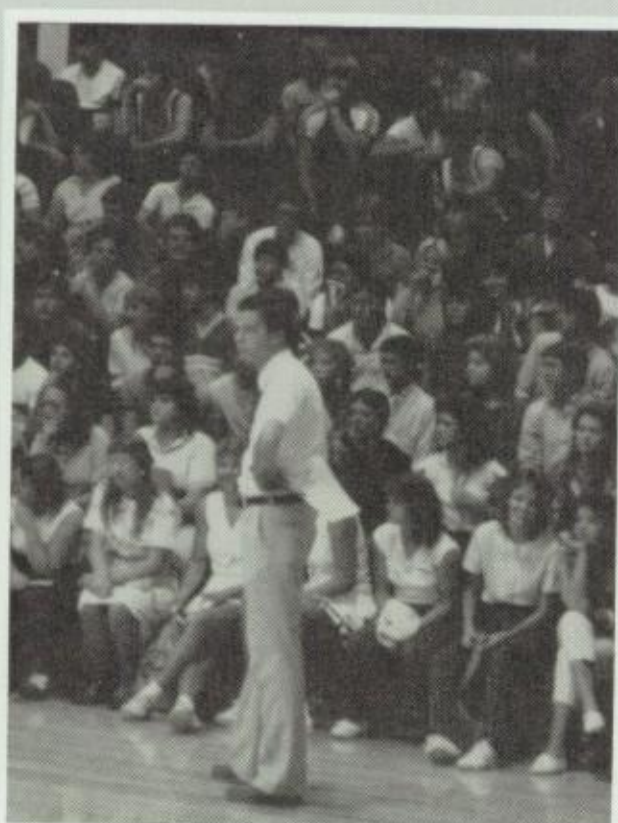

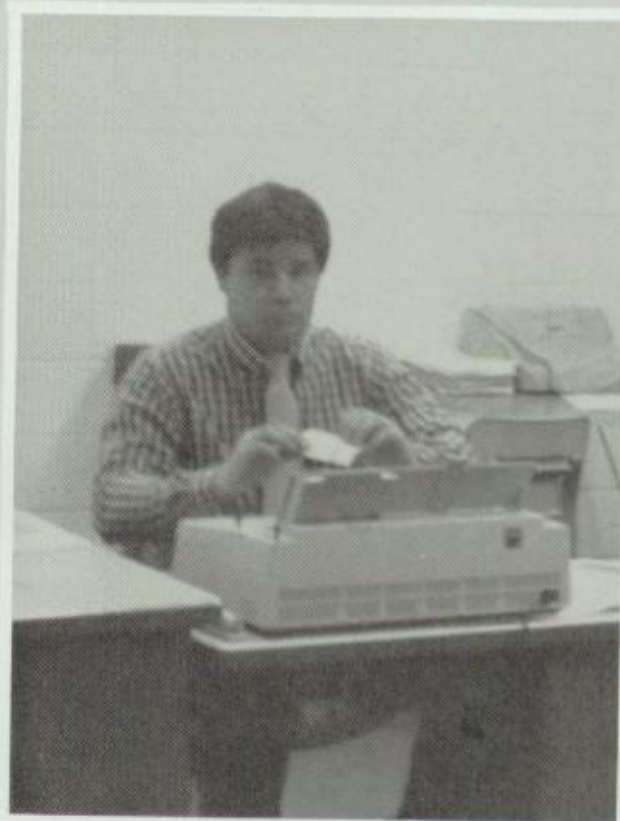

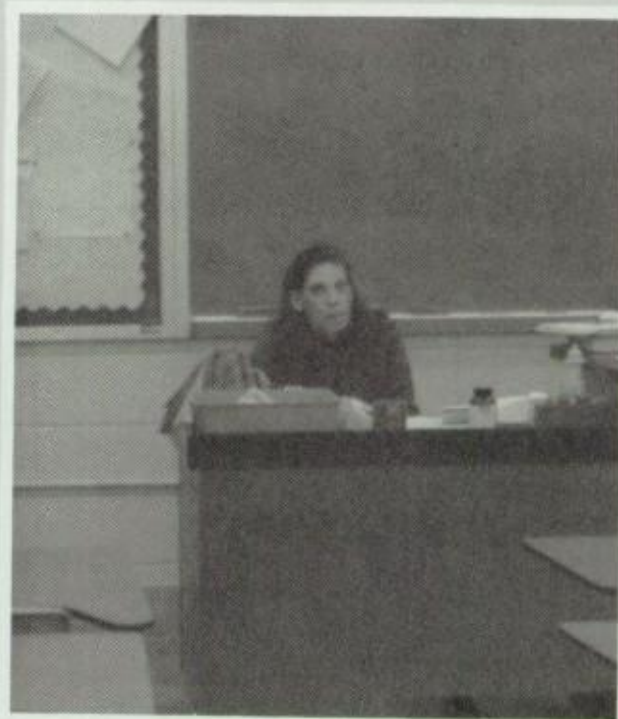

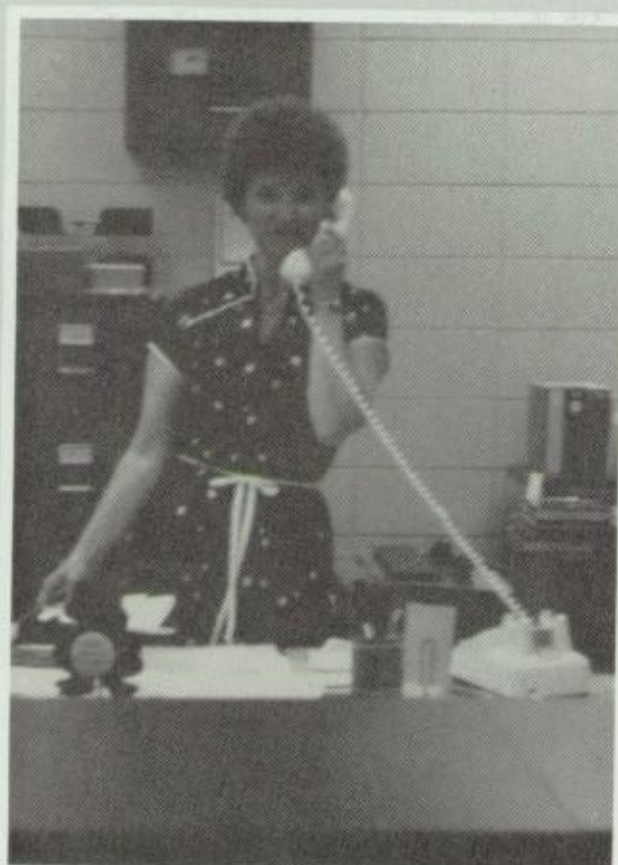

Raggedy Ann and Andy ?????

SHS teachers love assemblies.

Does Mrs. Smith ever get a break?
You better not take that picture!!!!

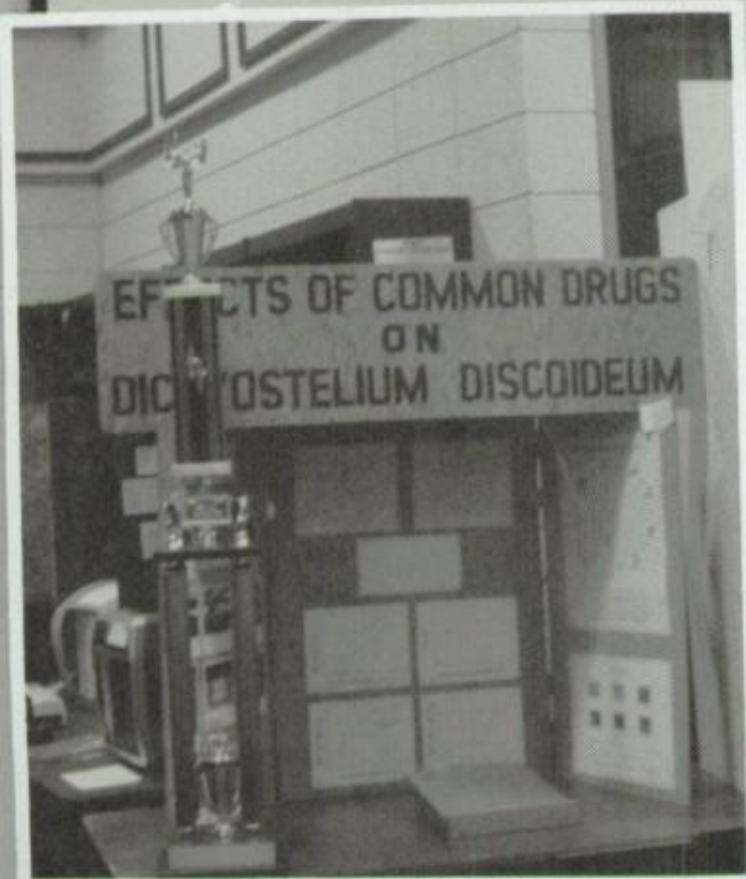

Mr. Brown's work is never done.
Mr. West

SCIENCE FAIR '85

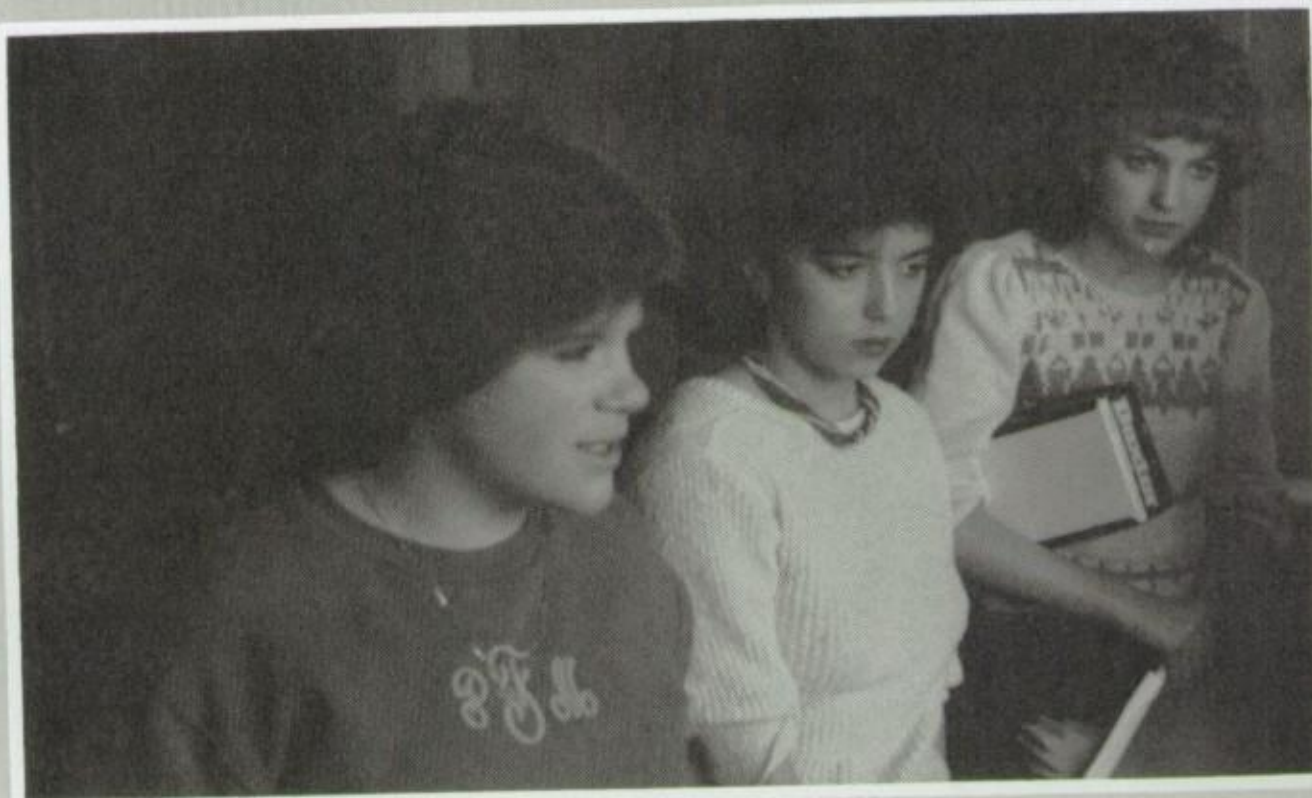

Darin Shea and Sherry Pye, Sweepstakes winners

1985 Divisional Winners

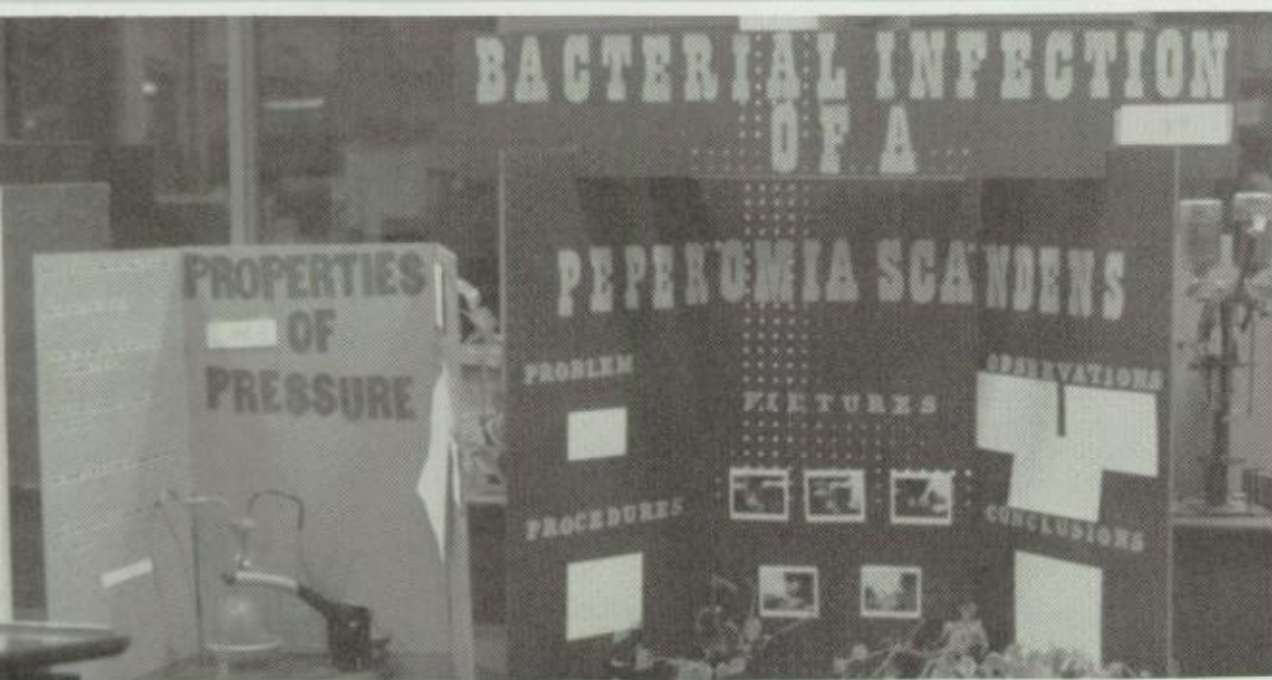

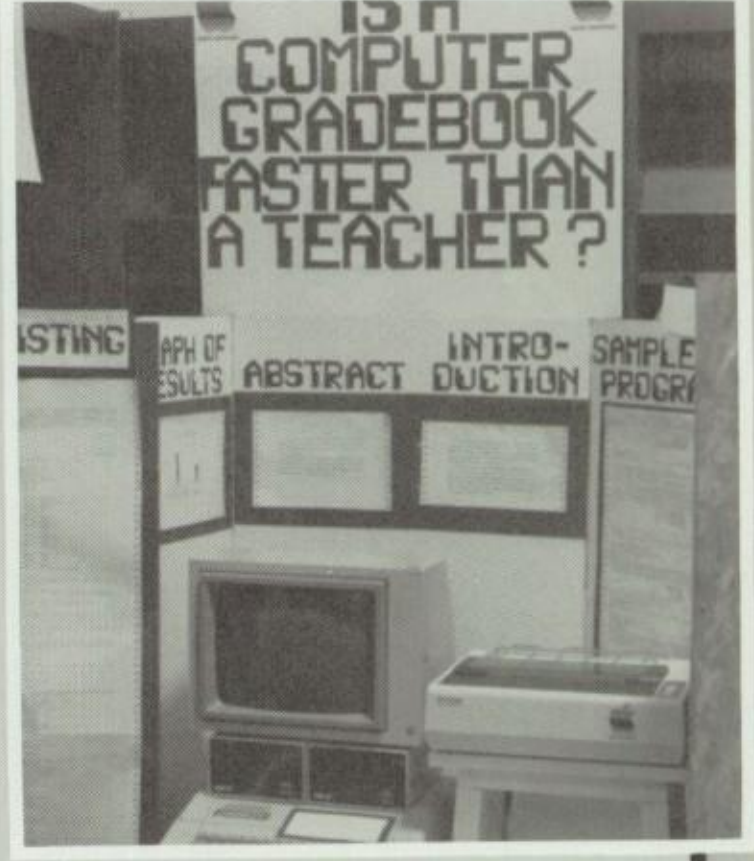

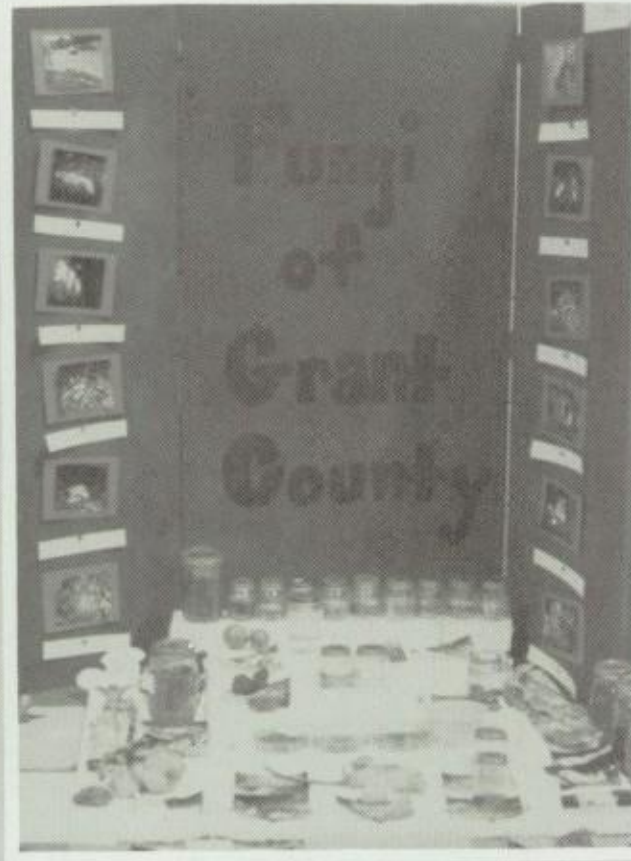

The winning project.

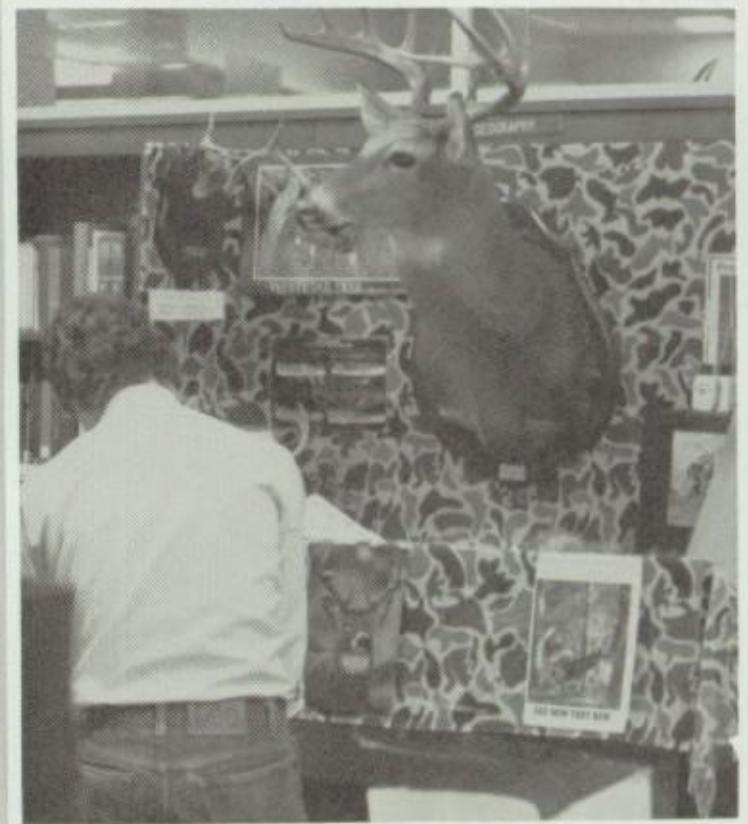

Some SHS students view the projects.

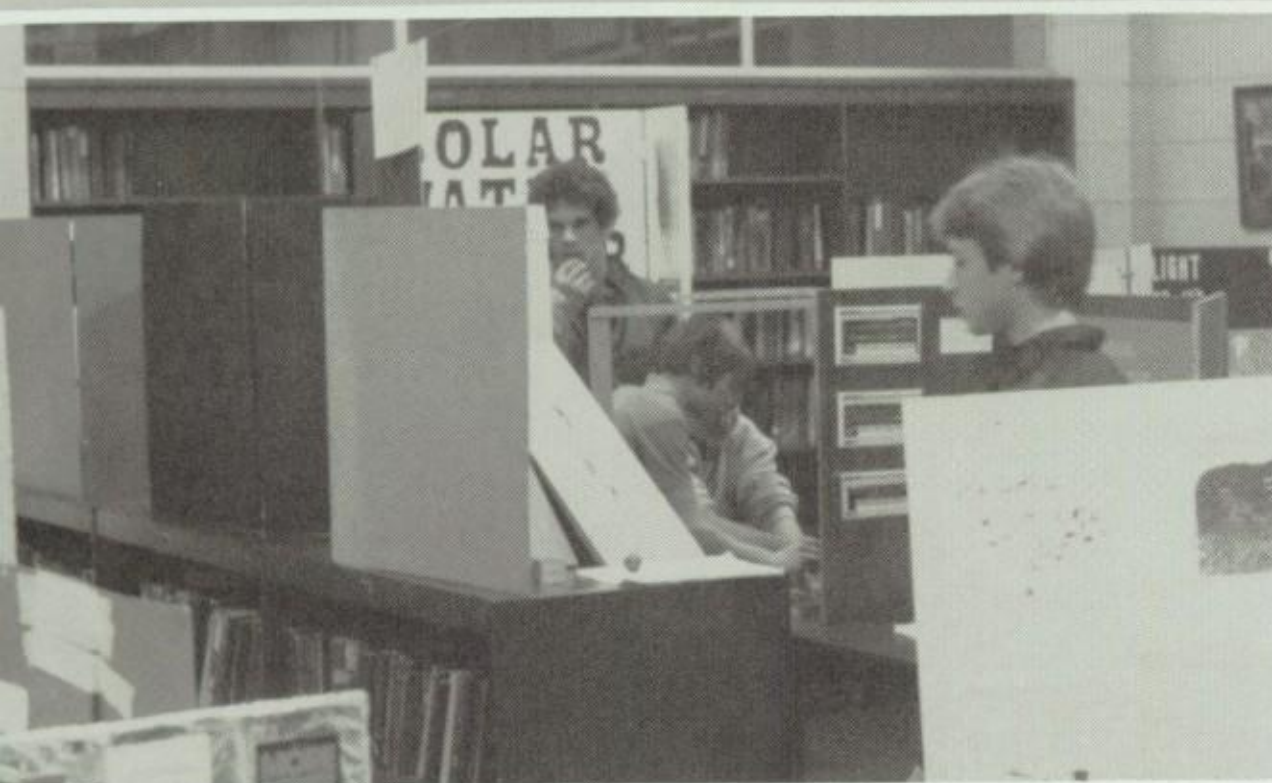

Some of the 400 science projects entered this year.

There were several projects in botany.

Zoology offered many interesting exhibits.

Setting up the projects was an experience within itself.

WINTER WONDER- LAND

A work of nature.

Where are the parking lines?

A cold landing!!

A roll in the snow.

Pam, Tina, Michele, and Sandi are armed and ready!!

WINTER

Snow is always exciting to SHS students.

A nice cold walk in the snow.

The students enjoy playing in the snow at lunch.
